

NIGHTLIFE

Puerto Ricans truly know how to party. The San Juan area is home to theaters, fine restaurants, and clubs. The Santurce area and the Condado-Isla Verde strip are ideal for less hectic bar-hopping. Also, you can always try your luck at a hotel casino. In Piñones you'll remember that you are in the tropics, where nightlife meets the beach.

But it's not just city nightlife. Many coastal towns have their own special flavor of fun. Boquerón, a students' haven, Luquillo and Piñones, local favorites, and family choices such as La Guancha's boardwalk or a boat ride on the bioluminescent bay at Parguera are always a treat. You can also leave the big island entirely and head to Vieques, where you can take in some live jazz before heading for a midnight swim in the phosphorescent waters of Mosquito Bay.

Discover what world travelers have always known: nightlife in the Caribbean means visiting Puerto Rico!
